Spring Means Golf in Scotland County

In the Carolinas, spring is breaking and time to head outdoors.

In Scotland County that means the Lumber River, the bike trails, a stroll through the woods (or St. Andrews' campus) and, most of all, the golf courses.

Our Scottish forbears weren't all work and no play. Along with their pipes and tartans, they brought their fascination with a little white ball and a bag full of clubs. But there's a reason why golf's American heritage is laden with images of the Sandhills region.

The early summer in Scotland County provides much the same inspiring scenery as our rather more well-known neighbor to the north – namely, verdant pine trees with an understory of azalea and dogwood. Against this backdrop, golf course designers have laid out challenging links to test your skills while you enjoy a game with your foursome on a Saturday.

Deercroft Golf and Country Club:

Designed by Gardner Gilley. The "Deercroft" course features 6,566 yards from the long tees, with a par of 72. This beautiful facility is managed by HMS Golf, with Chris McDonald as Director of Golf. (910) 369-3107. www.deercroft.com

Cypress Creek Golf Links:

This challenging par-72 Tom Jackson layout totals 6,570 yards from the long tees. Keith Almond is Owner/Manager. (910) 277-0311

Scotch Meadows:

Designed by Donald Ross with Russell Breedon, ASCGA, as golf architect.

Chip Wells now manages as Golf Professional.

Look, up in the sky!

One of our major attractions can be found thousands of feet overhead. A particular source of Scotland County pride is the Golden Knights U.S. Army Parachute Teams, who use Laurinburg-Maxton Airport as their main training facility.

The Golden Knights have a distinguished past that reaches back to the Cold War days of 1959 when 13 hardy souls banded together as the Strategic Army Corps Sport Parachute Team. In the half-century since, they have given jaw-dropping performances of both freefall formations and pinpoint accuracy at stadiums, events, air shows, and other venues across the United States and around the world.

The Golden Knights have two demo teams, the Black Team and the Gold Team, and two competition teams. Their latest innovation are Tandem Teams that reach out to bring citizens closer to the sport of skydiving.

While never failing to deliver oohs and aahs, the Golden Knights aren't mere entertainers. They spend countless hours working with local recruiters and students, showing the kinds of futures the U.S. Army can help them realize.

Practice is held Tuesday – Thursday between 8:30am and 12:30pm at the Laurinburg-Maxton Airport in Laurinburg
